

Former Agricultural Economics Faculty

Tim Baker

Dr. Timothy Baker joined the Agricultural Economics Department faculty in August of 1977. He earned his B.Sc. in Agricultural Sciences from the University of Illinois in 1973, and his M.S. and Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1975/1978.

Professor Baker's research interests were in the area of farm financial management, stochastic and dynamic models, risk management, financial markets, and land values. He taught undergraduate courses in agricultural finance and financial management of agricultural businesses and graduate courses in agricultural finance, production economics, and risk.

In 2018, Baker was awarded the AFM Section Publication of Lasting Impact Award for his co-authored article, "An examination of farm sector real asset dynamics: 1910–85," published in 1985 in the American Journal of Agricultural Economics, 69(3).