PP&R Urban Forestry's Street Tree Planting Program Supervisor!

Are you passionate about climate justice and urban forestry? We have an exciting opportunity for you to lead the Free Street Tree Planting Program, funded by the historic Portland Clean Energy Community Benefits Fund. Help us increase tree canopy and reduce urban heat in communities that need it most, particularly in low-income, low-canopy, and BIPOC neighborhoods.

Position Highlights:

- Lead and Supervise: Manage a dynamic team of 8 full-time tree planting specialists and multiple seasonal employees.
- Innovate and Implement: Plan, execute, and evaluate the planting and establishment of thousands of street trees annually.
- Mentor and Develop: Hire, train, and coach your team to be proactive problem solvers, ensuring best practices in equity, public service, urban forestry, project management, GIS/database management, and contract management.
- Collaborate and Strategize: Work closely with the leadership team to develop multi-year planting plans, manage contracts, maintain quality standards, and conduct effective communication and outreach.

What We're Looking For:

- A leader skilled in mentoring and developing team members, especially those who are new.
- Demonstrated experience in leading projects towards equitable outcomes.
- Ability to manage growth and change while maintaining high-quality standards.

With ambitious goals to triple our annual tree planting in the right-of-way within a few years, your role will be crucial in managing this growth effectively.

Ready to make a difference? Apply now to be part of a transformative initiative that will impact Portland's urban landscape for generations to come!
