We welcomed 16 new MS and PhD students into the Purdue Food Science family on the Sunday before classes started. We had a Welcome Get Together so the new students could meet their fellow students at Walts Pub in West Lafayette.

The Food Science Department had a Halloween get together on October 31st . We served Walking Tacos. Guests sampled spooky treats and showcased mystifying designs in the pumpkin carving contest. Attendees showcased their costumes in a thrilling showdown of creativity. Congratulations to the Deering lab and Powerpuff Girls for winning the pumpkin carving and costume contests.

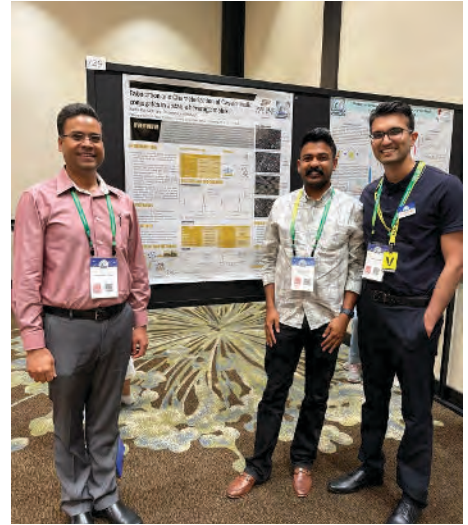

AWARDS & RECOGNITIONS

Congratulations to Ph.D. candidate Jose Haro Reyes for receiving the B.J. Liska Outstanding Teaching Assistant Award

Congratulations to doctoral student Nicholas Gallina, who recently received the Meat Foundation Merit Scholarship! Way to go!

A few of our faculty members and graduate students made the trek to Seattle, Washington, in August where they shared their food processing research at the Conference of Food Engineering (CoFE). Way to go!
