INDIANA AWSoME: Air, Water, and Soil Monitoring Expo

Vital resources for data-driven stewardship, safety, and economic success

Learn about Indiana's AWSoME Organizations

Join us at the Indiana Air, Water, and Soil Monitoring Expo (AWSoME)! Indiana AWSoME is for stakeholders and partners interested in the state's environmental excellence. This conference encourages collaboration among public officials, legislators, and organizations to raise awareness of ongoing monitoring efforts and help address key resource monitoring gaps. Learn how improved data gathering, shared insights, and coordinated strategies can influence the future of Indiana's environmental resources. Help ensure future economic prosperity and opportunity through the expansion and sustainment of statewide water, soil, and atmospheric monitoring. Don't miss the opportunity to shape impactful outcomes and help create a healthier, more sustainable Indiana together!

Objectives:

- Increase engagement in Indiana's environmental monitoring activities.
- Highlight who monitors, what data they collect, and how it's used.
- Identify monitoring gaps and inform stronger funding partnerships.
- Foster stakeholder collaboration for statewide monitoring strategies.
