

Subject: Lazy E Ranch internship Opprtunities

Good morning, my name is Robert Oakley and I am the internship coordinator with the Lazy E Ranch in Guthrie, Oklahoma. I am reaching out in an effort to recruit students interested in an internship opportunity in the Equine Breeding and Sale Prep Industries and what a practical application of a future of working within the equine industry can look like. As the equine breeding world advances we are on the front lines of the newest technology and methods. Students will work closely with veterinarians and a highly skilled experienced staff in not only breeding methods and procedures, but also foaling mares, foal care/ management, and daily herd care and management. The experience gained at the Lazy E is like none other in terms of quality and number.

If the breeding internship is not what students are looking for we also offer a Sales Prep internship during the summer months that offers students the chance to work with yearlings and gives them the opportunity to understand the nutritional needs of younger horses, daily exercise routines, and the importance of habitual grooming as well as the management of these growing horses. Our experienced staff has a rigorous training program that gives these students the ability to succeed with not only the horses bestowed upon them for the summer but skills that will transfer into all areas of working with horses in their futures.

Any students interested may contact me directley at anytime at any of the contact points below and also may check out our website linked in the logo (lazyeranch.net) for more information about the ranch and its internships.

Ever Grateful, Ever True
Boiler Up!
