

To whom it may concern,

Performance Equine Vets is looking for motivated, hard working students to join our working student program! This program is ideal for students on the pre-veterinary track or those looking to pursue a career in equine reproduction.

Performance Equine Vets is a progressive multi-doctor practice in Aiken, South Carolina. The main areas of the practice include reproduction, sports medicine, lameness and surgery. This allows students to be exposed to a variety of diagnostics, procedures and treatments. Lameness evaluations, reproductive examinations, general practice visits and emergencies are seen both in the Hospital and on Field Service. Schedules will allow for ambulatory rotation, hospital rotation, reproduction rotation and a lameness/surgery rotation however the program can be adjusted to the individual student's goals and interests. We pride ourselves on practicing excellent medicine and wish to pass along that knowledge, preparing students of our program to excel in their future endeavors.

The start date for the Performance Equine Vets Working Student Program is flexible depending on the student's schedule however we do ask for a minimum three month commitment. During this time the student will be working under the supervision and guidance of our highly trained equine technicians as well as our staff of Veterinarians. The student will gain skills and knowledge in all aspects of reproduction including but not limited to embryo transfer, ICSI, stallion services as well as foaling and care of critically ill foals. Students will be involved with initial assessment, treatment and management of equine patients while hospitalized or on ambulatory farm calls. Lastly, students will be invited to assist with and observe surgery cases.

Our working student program requires dedicated individuals that are committed to hard work and long hours. Our hospital and staff operate 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Days off will rotate and night shifts will be involved in the schedule as needed. Throughout the work week students should anticipate working 50 – 70 hours. We expect ethical conduct and excellent communication skills. The ability to work as a team with a positive attitude and good people skills are requirements.

Housing is provided on site at the clinic.

Interested applicants should send their resume and cover letter to marcellapevs@gmail.com by February 1st 2022.
